SOULFUL SPACES

Inspired by those who broke away from the pack, Tineke Triggs is known for designing soulful interiors with an imaginative edge. "It has to have soul—something that draws you in and makes you want to look closer," she says. By mastering both the art and science of design, her work gives rise to a unique form of design mixology with elevated interiors that not only provoke the senses, but deliver on the details. Triggs, who founded San Francisco-based design firm Artistic Designs for Living nearly 20 years ago has a passion for discovering those unique design elements that make her clients' hearts sing. "The magic often happens just outside one's comfort zone with those extra little details that allow each home to tell its own unique story," she says. "It might be vintage pieces with contemporary art or adding a statement lighting to create the 'jewelry' in a room. Finding those special elements is what creates the most memorable designs. At the end of the day, I don't just want my clients to be happy with our work, I want them to feel over the moon about the spaces we create together," says Triggs.
